

GOOD

questions

for study participants to ask!

-
- What is the main purpose of this study?
 - What do you hope to learn?
 - Please explain what a "placebo" is and whether this study involves one, or whether it involves a treatment that is already on the market.
 - What treatment will I receive during this study?
 - How long is the study going to last and what will I be asked to do as a participant?
 - Will I get follow-up information about the study results and what has been learned about the study treatment? And will the study results be published? If so, where?
 - Do I have to pay for any part of the study? (The answer should be 'NO.')
 - Will my insurance cover these costs? (The answer should always be 'YES' if there are any costs).
 - What reimbursement for travel costs or childcare do you provide?
 - Will I be able to see my own doctor (during or after participation)?
 - If the treatment works for me, will I be able to keep using it after the study?
 - How much will I be compensated for participating, how much am I entitled to, and will I have to wait until I complete the study before receiving my compensation?
 - Can anyone find out whether I'm participating in the clinical trial?
 - Will I receive any follow-up care from you after the study has ended?
 - What will happen to my medical care when I stop participating in the study or when the study ends?
 - Does the physician investigator have any financial or special interest (a potential conflict) in the outcome of this clinical study?
 - What are the credentials and research experience of the physician and study staff? Have they done this before? What was the outcome?
 - Who do I call if I have questions, concerns or unexpected side effects?